ECHO

Published by the Senior Class of Greensboro College

Join us in a look at the happiest days of your life....

Campus Notes

. . . For your memory book—a picture of the dome of Main before the carpenters came to uplift her face . . . When the jolly cooks kept the G. C. spirit high with their tasty dishes . . . When our afternoons were spent in searching for an elusive amoebe... When days and nights of practice brought forth such a masterpiece as "Ladies in Retirement"... When thrills of ecstasy, flowers, white tie and tails meant one of our gala dances... When Sunday afternoons were filled with tinkling keys and lilting voices.

Dedication

MRS. MARY IVY SWANK

WE, the seniors of the class of '42, dedicate our annual to MRS. MARY IVY SWANK, the dean of students and adviser for three years of our college life.

Because you have taken us into your heart and have given us courage and fortitude; because you came to us a stranger and made yourself beloved by all; because you have led us through life's small tribulations — we inscribe our book to you. We admire you for your strength of character, we respect you for your good judgment, and we love you for what you are.

Mrs. Mary Ivy Swank . . .

NOW that we are about to sign our last page in G. C.'s history, words we would like to use in our farewell do not come easily. Though our small dent in your walls will hardly be noticed, that which you have molded of our lives will be proof of your worth to us.

The annual picnic in September...green robes ... our interests at heart ... Monday nights...and plain good sportsmanship tell us that the chosen representatives in our college government are in view.

We admire these girls for their fairness, their earnestness, and their policy of helpfulness and guidance. The root of all that is fair and square, new and progressive, intellectual but entertaining, is the Students' Association.

Student Government as an individual responsibility has long been the aim of G. C.'s representative body. This year, with the cooperation of many members of the student body, much has been accomplished as a means to this end.

Sadie Wolfe holds the gavel at the head of our student body and reigns supreme at the Monday night sessions, the monthly meetings in Odell, and any call meetings. Dot Smith and Nancy Wall are characteristically dignified in their posts of vice-president, one and two respectively; it is they who check our comings and goings—whether they be late or early. Correspondence is handled by Margaret Skinner; and Libby Temple is kept busy recording all the doings and misdoings. Kat Hill keeps a miserly hold on the purse strings and Bettie Prosser sticks in her two cents' worth for the day students.

We as members of the Students' Association, pledge our full support and earnestly hope to see a perfect system triumph on the Greensboro College Campus.

THE HONOR SOCIETY

The girls in the picture above did not obtain that honor through wishful thinking. Oh, no! Concentrated, diligent study from the first day they arrived on this campus brought them grades high enough to be accepted in the Honor Society.

The scroll pins are so appropriate for the insignia of this society, and many juniors and seniors show them proudly.

We congratulate those who have had the determination to stick to their work in spite of "Gone With the Wind." Carolina-Duke scraps, dances, and conscription. They weren't asked to become members as a result of one set of high grades, but they had to prove their worth by long hours of study and constant application to their work. We know that their accomplishments will "hitch their wagons to some stars" to pull them farther up the road of success.

Officers: President, Elaine Causey; Vice-President, Janella Kirk; Secretary, Jewel Lambeth. Faculty adviser: Miss Pegram.

JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

Once or twice a year we are quite pleasantly surprised to find some of our friends filing into the dining room in formal dress and wearing happy grins. If we know them well, we may guess that they constitute the Junior Honor Society. In spite of their happy-go-lucky appearances, most of the girls have in their minds the idea of maintaining their present standing of high scholarship in order that they may have the honor later of being asked to join the Senior Honor Society. These girls deserve all the praise meted out to them, for they have had foresight enough to realize that success in college begins from the first day, and not in the last year. The officers for this year are: Jane Moore, President; Rebecca Whitener, Secretary. Faculty adviser: Dr. Stinson.

One of the prime axes about which our campus life centers is the "Y". We know it, we respect it, we belong to it. We meet it every day in the outstanding posters Janella makes and in the plans of the cabinet members. But more than that, we can feel its influence throughout our campus life.

Lorene and her cabinet began last June to write to new girls, welcoming them to G. C. and introducing themselves so that the future members would not feel like strangers when they arrived in September.

The "Y" chose "Reaching for the Highest" as its theme for the year. The entire cabinet has carried out this idea in the vesper services, morning watch, fellowship hours, and in the inspirational talks of Rev. Walter Towner during Religious Emphasis Week.

The "Y" has brought challenges to all of its members through outside speakers, student programs, and open discussions. It has afforded us pleasure by allowing us to participate in its programs and its parties at Christmas for the underprivileged children and during the various hospitality week-ends. It has made our lives fuller, more worthwhile because of its place in our campus activities.

Lady Victoire favored the side of the loyal Emersons this year. Mary Jon and Wilma showed their energetic and engaging personalities in all of the Rush Week activities and have kept up the interest since.

They planned their crowning day of achievement to be a carnival and Senorita Nell and the hot dogs, with or without, made quite a hit with the deciding Freshies. This climaxed their series of Moon River programs which appeared quite professional. They intermingled this with feasts and drinks and cheese crackers.

The old and new members took to the road and moved en masse to High Point Lake for fun and frolic. While there they became just serious enough to elect their most attractive new girl, Peggy Lowrance, to act as Emerson Queen and represent the pledges in a formal ceremony to make them all formal members.

They received the sigh of victory and accepted it gracefully. There was no gloating, no crowing, but only a proud gleam in the eyes of the Emersons for a brief moment and then the feeling of rivalry was dropped for another year and both societies fell back into the old feeling of absolute coopération.

Although the Irvings put up a losing fight this year it took none of the spunk from their spirit, none of the loyalty from their chosen society.

Their simulated dance pavilion fitted out with small tables and soft candlelight was spotlighted each night by a rumba routine by Anne Gwyn. Ladybug and Peggy brought their rushing activities to a close with a retrospect idea of those days in the little red schoolhouse.

After Decision Day, the new and old Irvings journeyed to the City Park for their annual picnic. Norma Rhoades was chosen bride and at the next meeting bride Rhoades was wed to groom Winstead in an impressive ceremony.

Later in the year there was the Inter-society dance with its silver moons and star dust. It has been an eventful year for the society, and a successful one, too. The members have coöperated with the leaders in every way, and the meetings that they have helped to plan have added a great deal to the social life. "They're Irvings born, they're Irvings bred"...and they live up to their name in all they do.

Take another look at the names on the staff — you know them well, you see them every day. If you have noticed them in a huddle at times, whispering in a most secretive manner, do not hold that against them: if they have seemed a bit pre-occupied at times, do not think them snooty. It might have been one of those times when they were breaking out with bright ideas for the feature section...finding new places to take pictures . . . re-writing copy . . . fixing re-take schedules . . . selling ads . . . collecting money. That is a smattering of the work the ECHO staff has done to get out your 1942 annual...and every minute of the job has been fun! They wanted to give you their best, and they hope you enjoy reading their brain-child as much as they have enjoyed writing and arranging it . . . and bragging about it to the folks back home. They have stayed home from the movies lots of times rushing to make the deadline with their write-ups, to arrange for your retakes, or to lay out the dummy...and all the time they have spent on this ECHO has been well worth the trouble, don't you think? By their efforts, views of G. C. life — dramatics, art, music, student government — have been pressed into your yearbook...and they have made a super-special ECHO, so we think!

THE HANDBOOK

Full of facts, not fiction . . . that's the Handbook . . . freshmen just couldn't get along without it during orientation week! It tells you what to do when, and most of all what not to do ever. One of the necessities of G. C. life, it contains our school calendar, our point system, the college songs, the constitutions of the Students' Association, of the Y. W. C. A., and of the Athletic Association. And what G. C. girl hasn't heard the famous warning: "Know the Handbook. Ignorance of the law is no excuse."

Editor Mildred (Bill) Whitener collected the necessary information about college rules, class officers, and all the other things the freshmen have such a hard time learning. . . And the little green and white book was crammed chock-full of ads sold by business manager Alice Kennedy.

We are proud of the good job done on our Handbook this year, and we congratulate Bill and Alice on the example they have set for the future.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

If you're yearning to join a really alive, up-to-the-minute organization, how about giving the International Relations Club the once-over? The club members are "hep" to current happenings all over the world, and have lively discussions of international affairs at their meetings...And don't think their library isn't well stocked with the very latest in the way of books and bulletins! But you cannot join simply because you like the spirit they exhibit. You must show a genuine interest in their work and prove to them by a letter of application that you desire to become one of them. Believing that charity begins at home, the I. R. C. sponsored the Red Cross Drive on the campus. They collected donations with a record-breaking drive at Christmas, and they provided a Red Cross room in Hudson, where bandages are rolled every afternoon. They have made the campus wake up to the world crisis that we are facing, and they have inspired us all to do our part in the defense of our country.

GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club can truthfully be said to be one of the most active organizations on the campus. Chapel programs, a thirty minute broadcast over CBS; an excellent production of the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "The Gondoliers," in which they were assisted by the Meistersingers; a six-day tour through Western North Carolina; a five-day tour through Eastern North Carolina; a Christmas program in collaboration with the Meistersingers and the sextet (composed of Helen Ownbey, Hilda Somers, Alice Price, Margaret Ross, Mary Warner, and Margaret Morrison)—all kept the girls too busy to get into anything resembling mischief. When the end of the spring semester came, the Glee Club looked back on its record of the year's activities with pride.

ORCHESTRA

On Sunday afternoon, February 8, lovers of the classics were given a treat in the concert presented by the Greensboro College Orchestra, conducted by Mark Hoffman. The listeners were carried through the different moods of Mozart's "Symphony in C major (Jupiter)" and soothed with Brahms' "Symphony No. 1," the final number on the program.

The orchestra took part in the graduating exercises and featured Beethoven's "Egmont Overture" Sunday afternoon, May 31.

The personnel is composed of the following: First violins: Mrs. Jesse Alderman, Miss Eugenia Echerd, Stedman Clifton, J. A. Moncur, Kimball Harrimann, and Tal Henry; second violins: Miss Victoria Pennekamp, Eugene G. Shaw, Mary Hall, Carol Snider, William Tritt, Mrs. Frances McCall Finch; viola: Miss Myrtle Heath; cello: Dr. Conrad Lahser, Dr. Curt Victorious; double bass: Hubert Carter, Jesse Alderman; flute: Austin Scott, Otis Beason; oboe: Herbert Hazelman; clarinet: Kenneth Ross, Al Cohen; French horn: Raymond Brietz; trumpet: Oma Kent, Hal Hutcheson; trombone: Max Wells, Charles Walters; timpani: Mary Neil Ward; pianist: Albertine Lefler.

FRESHMAN COUNSELORS

In order to ward off those Freshman blues; to add a lilt to a homesick sigh; to show the new girls the road of conduct expected of them; to add a familiar straw of support in a sea of unfamiliar faces—these girls were chosen to meet a certain group of counselees at specified times.

To these meetings the new girls brought their questions and their problems and took away a sympathetic word, a friendly smile, and a word of advice on matters of rules, organizations, and customs. It was at these meetings that the realization of the true worth of the Handbook was achieved. It was here that the new girls received the word "go" in regard to receiving full student privileges as Freshmen.

After these first meetings the relationship didn't stop, and many of the Freshmen took their counselors into their confidence and made them second "big sisters."

MARSHALS

As an added attraction to all the G. C. entertainments, you'll always find the senior beauties on parade, graciously showing the public courtesies. Chosen for their beauty, charm, poise and grace, they amply represent G. C.'s fairest to all outsiders who come to visit, to celebrate with us, or to enjoy the entertainment which we have to offer.

There's chief marshal, Ta Temple, who reigns with great dignity. Yes, all types of feminine pulchritude are represented in this group of stately young ladies—blonde Janette Gore and Peggy Brown—brunette Sue Wimbish—titan Gin Clarke—brownettes (who outnumber all others) Julia Nell Whitehurst, Frances Hill, Polly Eggleston, Libby Curry, Sarah Cox, and Jean Ayres.

Regardless of previously made plans these girls in green and white regalias are always on hand for the great campus events including plays, concerts, Founders' Day, Homecoming, and the all eventful graduation.

THE ART CLUB

G. C.'s art students believe in practical as well as in aesthetic art, for visitors to Art Club meetings this year have spoken on everything from window decorating to the "stuff" (sometimes called "nonsense") which the uninitiated doubtfully speak of as art and of which they profess ignorance. Besides the interesting programs they have presented at every meeting, the Art Club has planned a yearly art exhibit that attracts many outside visitors. Their oil paintings, needlepoint, puppets, block prints, and designs that are exhibited are interesting samples of the work that the art students are capable of doing. Enthusiastic Art Club members astonish their friends by declaring anyone can draw, although they sometimes have difficulty convincing the other girls that their products are art. However, if such zeal continues, Mrs. Seasholtz will soon have difficulty accommodating students. Officers this year are Janella Kirk, President; Oma Kent, Vice-President; Wilhelmina Stroud, Secretary - Treasurer; Dorothy Evans, Reporter.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Have you noticed the wide interests of the Home Economics girls? Yes, everything from the newest in fashions to the smoothest in men.

These Home Ec. girls seem to be very interested in their course and the teaching profession, but have you ever wondered about their real ambitions? No doubt this homemaking course inspires them to their heart's desire — that of becoming a model wife. More power to them! I would say — lucky men who lead these dames to the altar.

Then there are those who are interested in dietetics. They will be doing their part in national defense by helping in Uncle Sam's food centers and by giving proper food to the millions of service men.

Some of our girls will likely do research work — so be on the lookout for a new vitamin discovery.

As you can guess — there is lots of work involved, but who expects to get something for nothing? The knowledge gained and satisfaction derived from being beautifully dressed in one's own hand-made clothing makes every hour seem well worth the while.

FIRE AND AIR RAID WARDENS

The protective crew—these girls might be called. Because of their clear, cool heads these girls were selected to serve as both fire monitors and air raid wardens.

With Anne Miller as their chief, these girls have managed our fire drills in a quiet and sensible manner, even on the coldest nights. Then it was their duty to see that each room was left in correct order—windows down, lights out, doors open, and each room properly vacated.

Because of the national emergency air raid wardens became a necessity and these same girls, because of their dependability, were appointed to serve in this capacity. In the instance that Greensboro has an air raid, these wardens will see that all lights are blacked out, all girls quiet and in their rooms, protected by sturdy tables, if possible.

Into their hands is entrusted the safety and stability of mind of the entire campus population.

We are the best folks y' ever did see!

If you want to have some fun,

Just send out and we come on the run" . . .

chant the Preachers' Kids. Their song shows just how proud this group of girls is of their self-assumed nickname; and proud they should be, because they have formed an organization that is one of the largest of our college groups. Their meetings are riots of fun and frolic, and occasionally you can find these 45 girls stampeding the bookstore after "conference" and showing their inherited oratorical tendencies in arguments over what to drink.

If one sees a long face among this happy group, it is because that particular girl's mother and father had to "pack up their children in the old Ford car and move, move, move."

Bishop Margaret Nifong attempts to keep order in the monthly conferences, assisted by District Superintendent Louise Peele and Pastor Alice Ann Fields. Rachel Hobbs Alexander, chairman of the Board of Trustees, is the originator of both appropriate and inappropriate sermons, services, and programs. Frances Wolfe is Chairman of the Board of Stewards, and Carolyn Albright, as President of the Woman's Missionary Society of Christian Service, provides refreshments.

G. C. DAUGHTERS

Here they are — branches of the family tree — these Greensboro College daughters and granddaughters. They are the members of the campus crop who are carrying on the family traditions of attendance at G. C., and each year their number increases with leaps and bounds. Incidentally, the group has taken the study of trees and beautification of the campus as their project for the year. They have started a campaign to raise money for name plates for each tree on the campus, and many contributions have already been made to the fund. Under the diligent direction of Miss Mary Brock, they expect to accomplish great things. To be sure, this is a distinctive group, and one in which heredity plays a leading role giving rise to leadership and service. They are genuinely proud of their daughters who assume major responsibilities for their alma mater.

The G. C. Daughters executive committee consists of President, Sara Hill; Vice-President, Bettie Prosser; Secretary, Sarah Thomas; Treasurer, Louise Wharton; Program Chairman, Sara Cox; Adviser, Miss Mary Brock.

WHO'S WHO

Our hats are off to these girls, and our very best high hats, too, because they are the most outstanding girls on the G. C. campus. Marguerite Thomason, Sarah West Davis, Nancy Richardson, Nancy Wall, Elaine Causey, Carolyn Janssen, Lorene Weaver, Sadie Wolfe, and Dot Smith have made such a name for themselves during their four years on the campus that they have been selected as the most outstanding nine. These are the girls who assume responsibility with a smile and accomplish things without a grumble. There is no one who will disagree with the selection or deny that they rightfully deserve to be the chosen ones. Because of their numerous activities, their complete biographies are to be included in the current edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Here's to you! May your future be as successful as your past!

FUTURE TEACHERS' CLUB

Have you called the taxi? ... Did I tell you what Johnny did in class yesterday? He is a little darling, but he can really get into mischief... I've finished my lesson plan, and I can't wait to start teaching it. Do you think that I have enough material to teach for a whole hour? Comments like these and trouble with lesson plans, getting to school on time, and "What shall I wear today?" keep second floor Fitz in a constant turmoil while the practice teachers are getting their experience. Dr. Young aroused the interest of the seniors planning to enter the teaching profession with the formation of a Future Teachers'

Club, which has grown into an active college group, as well as being associated with the State and National Federations of Future Teachers' Clubs. The members attend conferences, have teas, and discuss problems which might confront them as future teachers. This year the club is boasting a new active member, Miss Eugenia Echerd, assistant in the Department of Education. Officers for this year are: Virginia Clarke, President; Jean Edgerton, Vice-President; Helen Cunningham, Secretary; Pauline Eggleston, Treasurer.

FRENCH CLUB

A "gay evening in Paris" is spent once every month by the members of Le Cercle Français. Since variety is the spice of life, the programs vary from fellowship groups singing "Les Marseilles" and "Au Claire de la Lune" to listening to French recordings and dramas cast and directed by the members. Of great interest to the future "maitresses" are the French movies.

As enticing as a dinner in a sidewalk cafe are the refreshments which are a part of every evening's entertainment. Besides the festive side of life, there is much serious and constructive work, such as establishing a war relief fund to aid the French children.

Parlez-vous francais? If so, come along and join this select group under the direction of Mademoiselle Helen Porter, President; Helen Cunningham, Vice-President; Frances Hill, Secretary-Treasurer; and the Sponsors, Mademoiselle Stinson and Monsieur Dunston.

THE MATHEMATICS CLUB

Laughter from Miss Pegram's classroom between 5 and 6 P. M. makes Hudsonites wonder what can be so funny about a Mathematics Club meeting. They just don't know what unusual things the "mathematical nuts" can find to do with numbers and x's and y's. All their meetings aren't just fun, for mixed with stories and riddles are hints and helps on teaching mathematics and applying it to everyday living. With the help of Miss Pegram, these master-minds of the mathematical world are learning short-cuts in logarithms, calculus, and other such subjects that are far above the heads of many "G. C.-ites." One of the most wide-awake organizations, the Math Club is never found napping. If you want to know why $x-y=z$, just approach one of the members with your problem, and it will be solved in less time than it takes you to add four figures. Leading the group in their quest for knowledge are President, Jane Giersch; Vice - President, Dorothy Smith; Secretary, Annie Hall Estep; and Treasurer, Dorothy Estes.

TOWN GIRLS' CLUB

Heads bent over books...radio crooning low...Helen and Oma dancing...gossip in low tones from the divans. In the Town Girls' Room one learns the latest gossip...one knits for the Navy (ask Catherine)...one writes reports to the Army (Miriam is the freshman who really gets results along those lines)...one wonders what part of the country "he" is flying over now. But the gang discusses also the new curtains, the swell time had at the Christmas party, the annual banquet at the Jefferson Roof—the one big Town Girl "formal" of the year; the new officers, and what a swell president Jean Davis has made; what cute models Margaret and Elsie were for the Art Class; our Kate Smith, Inez, who entertained all the Piedmont on the radio as "A Girl and Her Song"; the hurried seniors and their p-t-ing, the ten girls who enjoyed voluntary attendance second semester. It's a swell bunch—all 60 of them!

RAYMOND A. SMITH RELIGIOUS ED. CLUB

Who said majors in religion run around with a prayer book and an overly-pious expression! Just look at the Religious Education Club and then let the members tell you that while they have done much to promote good-will and fellowship, their socials, blind-date parties, and outings are fully as lively and as much fun as any party they've ever been to. One of the most wide-awake of the campus organizations, this active group is never asleep when there is some fun to be had. But all play and no work is certainly not their motto, because they are always busy visiting the churches of the city and assisting in various religious activities. It is a well-rounded group of girls, and in many ways they have proved that there is a great deal more to religious education than attending church once a week.

President of the club is Minnie Mae Franklin from Stem. The other officers are: Margaret Nifong, Vice-President; Mary Baldwin, Secretary; and Jo Moore, Treasurer. Dr. Raymond A. Smith is their Faculty Adviser.

*First row: STAI-FORD, WHITAKER, THOMPSON, RUDISILL, WELDON.
 Second row: CHOATE, WELKER, BRANTLEY, HOUSTON, SISK, RHOADES, DAVIDSON.
 Third row: ROBERSON, REES, JOHNSON, HODGES, DICKMAN, OWNBEY.

THE GERMAN CLUB

"It's the step-mother of our own language!"...For the duration the club members will defend themselves with these words when they are accused of high treason by the F.B.I. members on the campus. The girls will assure you that they are loyal Americans merely filled with enough self-confidence to tackle this bewildering tongue and decipher the queer letters. Most of their fun comes when they leave the classroom behind and join Dr. Lahser in those rapidly moving songs and dances of the old "Deutschland."

Since "wie gehts" and "auf wiedersehen" are practically the only words known by all, the club has had to adopt the motto: "Let's don't talk shop while seeking pleasure!" This leaves the members free to use their monopoly on fun, and this they do at their two merriest get-togethers — the Christmas party and the spring frolic. Club leaders this year are: Frances Turner, President; Mary Elizabeth Temple, Victoria Pennekamp, Vice-Presidents; Margaret Welker, Secretary; and Jackie Hardin, Treasurer.

First row MOSER, WALL, KENT, MCGLAMMERY, GRIFFIN, WARD, EGGLESTON, HARVIN, ANGEL.
Second row HARDIN, EVERETT, TYSON, HEATWOLE, WILKINS, INGRAM, EDWARDS, ARMFIELD, BOWMAN.

THE SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club is something new at G. C. this year; nevertheless, those Spanish students with their adviser, Senorita de Mora, are really making a "go" of their organization. They are rapidly becoming an active group on the campus, and once in a while we are not surprised to meet several girls discussing the importance of the Spanish language in this hemisphere or the effect of the Spanish war upon the people of Spain. Such subjects are uppermost in our minds today, and the members of this club are doing a good job of making the campus "Spanish-conscious." But then what club couldn't do a good job with Joyce Griffin as President, Mary Jane Mewborn as Vice-President, and Nancy Ward as Secretary-Treasurer?

For those girls who are working to make the Spanish Club a permanent thing on our campus in coöperation with the national drive to know better the language of our South American neighbors, we say, "Long live the Spanish Club."

WILLIAM KEITH BROOKS BIOLOGY CLUB

The William Keith Brooks Biology Club began the new year with a supper initiation at Sedgefield for the new members. Those prospective biology majors who were able to answer such questions as "name ten birds of North Carolina" and "name ten bones in your body" in as many seconds, formally joined the organization. Hazel Philyaw, Trudy Enzer, Ruth Fowler, Mary Louise Hinkle, Ann Hodges, Lucinda Lyon, and Mrs. Frances McColl Finch (honorary member), elected Sara Hill, President; Bettie Prosser, Vice-President; and Jackie Hardin, Secretary-Treasurer. Since then, labs and experiments have been interspersed with tasty meals concocted by Dr. Coleen Fowler, and by spicy chats with Dr. Emily Maxwell, the two advisers for the club. Although they seem to revel in their "playful antics with nature's little folk," their weaker acquaintances show a slight tremor at the mention of missing last year's mice or when hearing of the loss of a beautiful horned toad.

G. C. PLAYERS

It's an honor to be classified as a G. C. Player, and we're really proud of this select group. You begin with work and add work and more work on to that until you've earned enough points to be a member. The girls of this group are experienced in the art and craft of play production, and their work just can't be denied. We couldn't do without their talented performances. Yes, and those already in Players cast their votes before you are allowed to be initiated at their annual spring banquet.

"All the world's a stage" is one of Shakespeare's lines, and I daresay that any of the Players could do themselves proud on the stage.

The program of entertainment for this year included "Ladies in Retirement," "The Late Christopher Bean," and "Moor-Born."

Members of this honorary group are: Nancy Wall, Frances Winstead, Etta Farrar Taylor, Vivian Rathburn, Velda Mecum, Elaine Causey, Alice Birkhead, Julia Nell Whitehurst, Lucinda Lyon, Katherine Hill, Lucille Cox, Grace Osborne Clayton, Betty Janssen.

MISS CHARLOTTE SEARLES, MR. RUSH T. WRAY.

SPEECH CLUB

It's almost as difficult to be admitted to this club as it is to Players, because no speech student can make any grade lower than "B," and each member is responsible for providing entertainment at the meetings, to be classified as a member. However, with the high standard of work the girls in the speech classes put out, the enrollment for the Speech Club is steadily increasing. Perfection in the choral experiment is the aim of the club and the presentation of "The Snow Goose" by the seniors in the Speech Club was very successful.

Officers are: Etta Farrar Taylor, President; Vivian Rathburn, Vice-President; and Betty Janssen, Secretary.

Here's Teamwork!

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Those girls who have shown an average amount of skill, proficiency, and persistency in one of our numerous campus sports is eligible for a seat in the Athletic Association. The Athletic Board, comprised of the officers, Miss Jeter, class representatives, and the various sports managers, governs the association and all of its connecting links.

Once a year all of the members of the association meet for a gala dinner, slated as one of the gayest affairs on the calendar. There Miss G. C. is chosen and numerous awards are made. The varsity teams which have been chosen by the Athletic Board are presented to the group.

The Association was responsible for the most spirited bit of fun offered to the student body this year — the pep rally. The seniors walked away with the honors with their impersonations of our faculty at its own soccer game. The laughs that resulted from that presentation will not be equalled in many a year.

A charming athlete chosen by the Association last spring to be the most representative of her group. The Athletic Association's banquet is quite an event of the year and they climaxed their festivities by choosing this '41 graduate.

"G" CLUB

Because of their athletic prowess, their persistent and outstanding participation in practically all of the various sports, these girls have received their reward—a place among G. C.'s lettermen.

SWIMMING

Three days a week the "Y" is filled with girlish squeals and shouts of glee mingled with the continuous splash of water from dives and play — it's time for swimming. On Tuesdays and Thursdays those quite serious about this business of correct strokes and perfect dives take over the pool. On Wednesdays the ambitious but less proficient group of beginners, just wanting to learn to propel themselves, make just as much noise and have just as much fun.

Speaking of taking things seriously, these lassies took their swimming and that of their fellow-man to heart and went through the numerous tests to obtain a Red Cross Life Saver's badge.

RIDERS

Through wooded trails and country roads the riders walked, trotted, and cantered for the joy of feeling the wind in their faces and the companionship of fellow horse lovers. Some of them even jumped a bit. But whether they were beginners or old hands at the reins, they were joined by one common bond — a love for the out-of-doors.

First row: WILSON, KNOTT, MAYES.

Second row: COBLE, BACKER, COX, HINKLE, BIRKHEAD, NIXON, COVINGTON.

TENNIS

Ready? Serve! Love-fifteen . . .
thirty-all! Add in . . . game . . .
And so the scores rose and fell, favorites were picked . . . the final playoff . . .

The winners were picked! Pinehurst's Clarise was the singles champion and teamed with Hawaii's Ann Penn they formed the intramural top doubles team. They fought hard for their place at the top and made a beautiful showing on the way up. Can you hold that top position, Freshmen?

SOCCER

Kick it to me, Hilda . . . No fair —you can't hit it with your hands. Watch out for the goal guard! These and many other exclamations have been heard by the passersby when wandering near the soccer field on a sunny morning. One of the most exciting of the sports, it keeps the girls socking right and left. Just to prove that their enthusiasm was in the right place, the girls started their soccer tournament with one of the best pep rallies we've ever seen. Those who have fought hard for the game were put on the varsity squad — and here they are.

BASKETBALL

Almost any Spring night will find girls from every class making their way across the creek to Central gym, for a date with basketball practice. This is a first love for some of the best sports in the crowd, and they give it their time and enthusiasm gladly. Nights and nights of vigorous practice—and then the tournament begins. Of course the best team is always the winner, and on the last night of excitement, the lucky ones leave the gym with heads high and smiles beaming. If you haven't tried it, come out next year and join in the fun!

One of the most important events of G.C.'s social year is the crowning of the May Queen. Selected as the most attractive senior, Miss Willie Mae Cooper reigned supreme. Her court that consisted of the maid-of-honor, a junior beauty, and two maids from each class shared the spotlight with her.

The first event on the program was Class Day, and time for the "little sister" class, the sophomores, to make a daisy chain with which to surround the seniors. White and black alternated to make an interesting pattern; the seniors made their exit, and their sister class gave them their last tribute — the daisy chain shaped in the numbers of the year.

ENCEMENT

The baccalaureate sermon gave the seniors challenging thoughts for the future, and the day of graduation had arrived at last. The long procession of faculty and students . . .
